

Arrangements for online teaching and learning

During the period of the school closure, all teaching and learning will continue online.

CSG uses Google Apps for Education as a remote learning tool. All students are able to access Google Classroom and their classes for each subject are set-up in this. All students have been fully briefed about how to access their work and resources.

Teachers will assign work and assignments using Google Apps. Students get alerts via their school email whenever a teacher assigns any work.

There will be a parents' guide to Google Classroom on the website from Monday. Please refer to this if you would like to know more about this remote learning tool.

Students should follow their normal hours of lessons, completing the work provided and accessing the resources set by their class teacher. Where it is appropriate teachers will provide feedback to students.

Teachers may also direct students to revision websites or programmes that they regularly use. One of those is ClickView, our school's educational video platform. The ClickView Library includes 2000+ videos for Secondary which have been mapped to the National Curriculum and includes additional resources to help support student learning.

All our students can access ClickView by following these steps:

- Logging on to their school Google account and accessing it via Google Apps menu or
- Going directly to <https://online.clickview.co.uk> and login with their school Google account

For students unable to access the internet the school is making alternative arrangements.

For Year 13 and Year 11 students it is a particularly uncertain time and we await information about how they will be assessed. In the meantime teachers will continue to set work for them and they should continue to complete this to the best of their ability. This work may need to be used as evidence of teacher assessment or to support predicted grades.
